

CC Mullen

Compensation & Organization Solutions

The Power of Questions Questions are powerful!

In this highly interactive workshop, you will:

- Experience and learn questions that will help you, your team, and your company move from problem-focused thinking to solutions-focused thinking - from obstacles to possibilities and profits
- Experience and learn questions that will help you, your team, your company, and your customers each discover what you want, the resources to get it, and what will be possible when you get there

LA SHELLIE VERNON

Mylestone Development & Management

The CreateHer Within Forcefields, Ecosystems, and Leadership

Our internal forcefield and ecosystem impact the way we approach business and the way we lead. What we allow in or keep out of our being will ultimately be incorporated into who we are. It shapes our views and the way we approach our businesses. As employers and leaders, we are always creating and innovating and therefore must always be cognizant of the Her we are Creating so that the ecosystems in our businesses surpass surviving and thrive better than ever.